

THE INME CAMP PANCHGHANI 2018

DAY 4

CAMPS & OPPORTUNITIES

With the revolution in the fast paced world, there has been a shift in the objectives of education as well. The cardinal focus of Education now offers an extraordinary emphasis on developing life skills in students, as they are the important building blocks, who can cope up with future challenges, and survive.

The home away from home is a wonderful endeavour by DPS, Pune. To cope with extensive options and change of modern lifestyles, students need to experience various challenges to realise their own potential. These challenges require immediate and an effective response from a socially responsible system of education. Education, now a days is hence, very important, but the kind of education, to support and live life better, is more important. Thus, the key focus of Education needs to lay emphasis on honing such skills in students, in order to face trials and survive proudly .

The outdoor education Camps provide opportunities for students to be independent, and exercise self-discipline. These exciting and adventurous activities develop the students' ability at an individual and personal level, and allow them to take on greater challenges socially and academically. "Something to do, something to think about, something to enjoy in the woods, with a view, leads to character-building."- Ernest Thompson-Seton.

Character building! What a great objective!

It challenges the best that is in a child. Camping is an experience; because of natural, physical, social, educational, moral, and religious conditions, the children learn the underlying principles which determine character. Such camps offer an opportunity for the children to grow, develop and practice the principles of togetherness and self reliance. The environment in the camps helps promote teamwork, leadership and unity. The challenges make them stronger and more competent. They develop faith in others which is the foundation of society. Unknowingly they develop the spirit of altruism and a ready to help attitude.

Developing an understanding of the natural world, has always been a key component of such activities. Students are provided with direct experiences that enable them to integrate their learning into the wider world and make personal connections. Emphasizing hands-on, real-world learning experiences, helps students develop stronger ties to their community, enhances students' appreciation for the natural world, and creates a heightened commitment to serve others. They also provide opportunities that stimulate the development of each camper's self-esteem. Staying amidst nature enables them to appreciate their natural surroundings. They realise their ethical obligation to be good stewards of the planet and responsible trustees of the legacy to future generations..

Finally, time away from home allows them to a better appreciation of family and the luxuries provided in a sheltered environment of a home .
